NANAMIC Update

December 2019

Thoughts from the chair

As we come to the end of 2019, we find ourselves in an unknown position. The result of the general election was a surprise to many and most commentators are asking what type of person our prime minister will be now that he has such a large majority, which enables him to choose which way he wants the nation to go. There has been quite a lot of discussion about Further Education and Adult Education over the past year so we wait to see which way the government will proceed.

NANAMIC is looking forward to joining the Mathematical Association for a joint conference at Easter time. This is a change from our usual July conferences but provides us with an excellent opportunity. See pages 2 and 3 for details of the excellent speakers we have lined-up. If you are able to join us for all three day (14-16 April 2020) we would love to see you. The price, including accommodation and food, is just £299. Alternatively, you could come on Wednesday 15 April as a day visitor for just £99. These prices are for members only and end on 31 December. Complete the application form NOW to secure your place.

On behalf of the trustees and committee members we would like to wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. We hope to see you at our conference.

About this Conference

Our conference theme Exploration and Insights is intended to offer delegates an invaluable opportunity to explore new ideas in a lakeside setting designed to maximise face-to-face learning and sharing. As an organisation we are responding to the financial challenges faced by many schools by restructuring our conference packages. Delegates are able to select from a competitively-priced range of cost-effective options - from half days and single days to the full conference experience - we are particularly excited to offer our innovative "middle day" option offering a full day of classroom-focused workshops, with optional evening BBQ and quiz which we hope will prove very attractive for our teaching members. Delegates, and their partners, should note that the venue also offers a superb range of leisure facilities and a relaxing spa which are all available at an additional charge.
